

Bus Topology

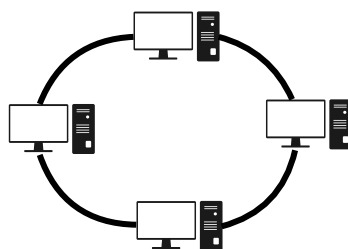

Used in small offices or early LAN setups where all computers share one main cable.

Star Topology

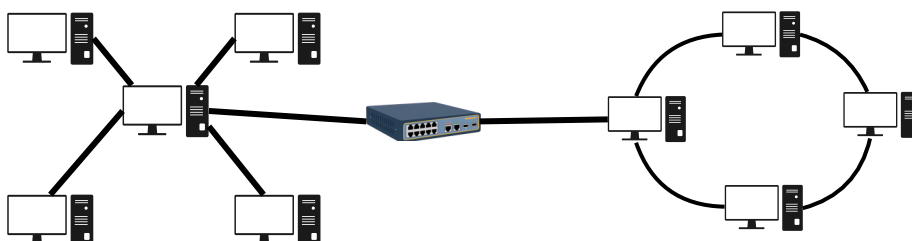

Common in modern home and office networks with a central hub or switch.

Ring Topology

Used in fiber or token ring networks where data travels in a circular path.

Hybrid Topology

Used in large organizations combining multiple network types like Star and Ring.